TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

In any movement that you see
Affecting public weal,
Go to work and like a man
Put your shoulder to the wheel.
That in the years that yet shall come
It may be written down,
He was a man of enterprise
And helped to build the town.

The steamer W. N. Chancellor passed up for Pittsburg this morning.

The prospect of continuous wet weather as we go to press, is somewhat cheering to our people, as it may swell the river and remove the danger of a coal famine.

The fencing in the rear of the Catholic Church was discovered to be on fire this morning about three o'clock. The neighbors extinguished the blaze before the fire department was called.

We ask attention to the sale of the house and lot in Chester, advertised in another part of our paper, to be sold on the 22nd of November, by Mrs. Mary A. Lee, at 2 o'clock p. m. The place is desirable as a residence. Fruit and kitchen garden.

It is with sincere regret that we announce the death in this city, Sunday morning last, of Master Tommie Beasley, son of Mr. George Beasley. He had been sick for some time with diphtheria. Funeral will take place from the residence this afternoon, at half past two o'clock.

The following is the return card, verbatim et literatim, printed on a letter received by a gentleman in this city recently. Our readers can draw their own conclusions:

The Cincinnati Enquirer says one of the strange things in these strange times is, that the sight of a good temperance man like St. John should throw the Republican party into the delirium tremens. It is more likely that the way the fair count for which the Republican party has been clamoring, has turned out, had more to do with the fit, which came upon the Republicans, than the sight of St. John. The fair count caused them to see more snakes than any other thing.

The James H. Hall Plow Company have prepared in exquisite style, a regular series of all their excellent plows, for exhibition at the World's Exposition at New Orleans. The plows are finished in the highest artistic style, and no doubt, surpass anything of the kind ever seen before. The Messrs. Hall have gone to great expense in the finishing of the plows, and they form a most attractive sight, which all of our citizens may witness to-morrow and the next day, as they will be upon exhibition to the people of Maysville and Mason County, at their ware-rooms in East Maysville during these two days. No one should miss seeing the elegant work of our city manufacturers.

Gaskell's Hand-Book of Useful Information.

We have just received from the publishers a book with the above named title. It contains statistical tables of practical value for mechanics, farmers, lumbermen, bankers, book-keepers, politicians, and all classes of workers in every department of human effort, and a compilation of facts for ready reference on various subjects.

No more valuable book has ever been offered, as it contains so much information of practical value in every day life. It is elegantly bound in Alligator Leatherette, with gold stamp, and will be sent to any address by mail, post paid, on receipt of twenty-five cents, by Geo. W. Ogilvie, publisher, 230 Lake street, Chicago, Ill.

The entertainment given by Philip Phillips, at the M. E. Church, last night, was largely attended by the best citizens of Maysville, who were abundantly repaid for their investment of time and money. The entertainment was intensely interesting from first to last, as Mr. Phillips took his audience from New York City across the continent, out through the golden gate, across the Pacific ocean, stopping at Sandwich Islands, then to Australia and India, leaving them at Bombay with the promise if the people would come to-night he would bring them home. The illuminated scenes were remarkably fine, while some of the dissolving views were simply marvelous. From the expressions of satisfaction we heard last night we would not be surprised if standing room will be at a premium to-night.

THE COUNT ENDED.

New York Sends Greeting to the Democratic Party—Blaine and Logan Both Acknowledge Their Defeat.

The following is the result of the count of the votes in New York, upon which it was conceded on all hands the Presidential contest depended. The completion of the city canvass shows the State vote to be as follows:

Grover Cleveland.....573,103
James G. Blaine.....561,998
St. John.....25,227
Benj. Butler.....19,875

Mr. Blaine is now said to give it up, and General Logan remarked to some friends, who were expressing their admiration to him in Chicago, at the philosophical manner in which he had borne the ordeal of awaiting the returns, that he was more concerned about how he was going to spend the next few years, than in entertaining any hope or prospect of the Vice Presidency.

The Kentucky Republican, owned, edited and controlled by colored men, takes a very sensible view of the election, and gives the colored people some good advice. It takes no stock in the senseless stuff instilled into the minds of that race by white Republicans who have held all the offices and let the colored people do all the voting. The crazy-headed Republican journals that are edited and controlled by white men would do well to imitate the Kentucky Republican and quit making asses of themselves.—Lexington Transcript.

Mr. JOHN HASSON, the son of James Hasson, who was employed hauling dirt from the new opera house this morning, when attempting to avoid a collision with a passing street railroad car, was thrown from his cart to the ground, and the cart and its load passed over him, the wheel passing over his breast. It was not known when our paper went to press what was the extent of his injury.

PERSONALS.

Mr. George Byrne, formerly with Runyon & Hocker, has accepted a situation as salesman with C. B. Clift & Co. He will be pleased to have his friends call on him in his new quarters.

Hanged by a Single Hair.

[San Francisco Bulletin.]

An explanation of the hanging of the murderer Wasielewsky, at San Jose, by means of a single hair, is as follows: The gallows trap on which the condemned stood had double doors, swinging from the center to both sides. These doors, constituting the trap, were held in a position so as to form a part of the gallows by a spring bolt. This bolt was sprung, thus opening the man-weighted trap, by the falling of a fourteen pound weight. This weight was suspended by a small cord, which came up to the rail on the gallows, back of the condemned. The cord, instead of being at once and simply fastened, was wound around a "barrel." This barrel was lying in a horizontal position, parallel with the rail, and held a few inches above it by upright supports at either end. The cord holding the weight was wound around the barrel until the resisting power of the friction almost held the weight. This "almost" was arrived at by previous experiments, until it was reduced to such a fine point that the additional strength of a single hair was enough to suspend the weight; or, more properly, prevent the cord from slipping. One end of the hair was fastened to the cord and the other end to a screw driven in the bar. When the hair was cut the cord slipped around the barrel, the fourteen-pound weight dropped ten feet, springing the trap bolt, and Wasielewsky shot through the opening.

It is said that Judge Beiden, who tried Wasielewsky, suggested this peculiar scheme of retributive justice, but the details were worked out by sheriff Branham. The hair which was used came from a lock of the murdered woman's hair.

Collecting Money for the Church.

[New York Sun.]

The new minister was requested by one of the deacons to preach a sermon explaining certain needs of the church and to ask for generous contributions.

"Certainly," he said. "Will a week from Sunday do?"

"Yes," said the deacon.

"Very well; I will make an announcement to that effect at the close of the morning service next Sunday."

"Oh, don't do that," protested the deacon.

"Why not?"

"Well, you don't know this congregation as well as I do; and if you should make such an announcement I'm afraid there might not be much of a turnout. We'll just spring it on them."

A Peculiar Room.

[Texas Sittings.]

A Texas lady called at a drug store and said: "I want a tooth-brush; a real nice one. I want it for a spare room."

"That's the first time I ever heard of a spare room having teeth," remarked the smart aleck of a clerk. "If your spare room is not bald-headed, we can supply it with some good hair brushes, and if it is bald-headed, we can sell you some hair restorer that will make the hair sprout out like spring bolts."

There was no sale.

Enriching the Language.

[Toronto Mail.]

One dire effect of the Presidential campaign is that the word "mug-wump" seems to have come to stay. A few months ago it conveyed no meaning to anyone. Now it has a marked significance. Even Mark Twain admits with gleeful candor that he is a "mug-wump."

Dude Night Keys.

[New York Mail and Express.]

Wealthy young men about town now exhibit the latest nonsense—solid silver latch-keys, tied with a tiny bow of satin ribbon.

The Successful Lawyer in Georgia.

[Cartersville, Ga., Free Press.]

Law books are now used in court rooms simply as an ornament. The successful lawyer abuses the witness, cries before the jury, and his case is won.

Bennett's Quick Trip.

[American Queen.]

Mr. James Gordon Bennett has just done a thing which probably no man ever did before. He crossed the continent by railroad from New York to San Francisco and returned, the entire journey occupying only thirteen days. He went all the way in a special car, with a small party of friends, his object being to consult with J. W. Mackay.

Roses and Feathers.

Birds for hat trimmings have gilded beaks and claws.

Roses are worn on the side of the corsage, rather than on the front, and are arranged high on the shoulder.

Gilded ozer baskets are used by bridesmaids to carry their roses in; they are flat in shape like a shopping bag and have the two handles tied with broad satin ribbon.

Women and Dress.

The women of Turkey wear trousers on ordinary occasions, but when they attend balls they wear dresses fashioned in the latest Parisian styles.

A Chinaman has run away with a Chicago man's wife. "That's the degraded meanness of a Chinaman," observes Robert J. Burdette; "he will steal anything rather than walk up and ask for it."

"A thick and rebellious head of raven-black hair gives a brunette," writes an English authority, "in the day time a bison look, but in a ball room, with a flower stuck in it, or some jewels, it has a splendid effect."

If sovereigns hardly ever love their Queens or women of princely rank," writes Labouchere, "a King's daughter who enjoys flirtation is sure to turn the heads of all her sister courtiers." French history proves this.

A SINGLE FACT

Is Worth a Ship-Load of Argument.

CARTERSVILLE, GA.

This will certify that two members of my immediate family, after having suffered for many years from menstrual irregularity, and having been treated without benefit by various medical doctors, were at length completely cured by one bottle of Dr. J. Bradford's Female Regulator. Its effect on such cases is wonderful, and well may the remedy be called "Woman's Best Friend."

Yours respectfully,

JAMES W. STRANGE.

ENTIRE AND ABSOLUTE SUCCESS.

Major John C. Whitner, of Atlanta, well and favorably known all over the United States as a General Insurance Agent, says:

"I used this remedy before the war on a large plantation in a great number of cases, always with absolute success."

Dr. J. Davis, of Milltown, Ala., writes:

"Have used Bradford's Regulator extensively in my practice with entire success. If it is not a specific, it is in my opinion, the best known remedy for the diseases for which it is recommended."

A lady of Bonham, Texas, writes: "I have been using your Female Regulator for several weeks and with great benefit. My case is of long standing, and has baffled many physicians. I have tried every medicine I could hear of, but the Regulator is the only one that has ever relieved my distressing sufferings."

NOTASULGA, ALA.

Dr. J. Bradford's Female Regulator has been thoroughly tested by me in a great variety of cases, and I am fully convinced that it is unequalled for that class of diseases which it claims to cure. J. C. HUSS, M. D.
